"The Largest Pencil Factory in the World"

The Biggest Idea in Pencil Advertising

DURING 1927 the Mikado pencil will be advertised nationally in the most impressive way.

A campaign, based on the analysis of the reader's scribbles, by Louise Rice (America's foremost graphologist), will begin with a full page in the Saturday Evening Post of April 23rd.

This campaign will be vigorously followed up by many other powerful advertisements, until every pencil user knows of the sensational advertising offer which we are making—an offer which appeals to his first interest, his interest in his own character, his own personality.

This Mikado advertising is different. Startlingly different! It will help you sell pencils, not just tell how good they are.
